

Soul Level Healing by Tristan Butler

This is an invocation of divine energies which bring soul level healing that then flows down and permeates all levels of your being. You may catch a glimpse of your soul in your mind's eye if you sit in meditation afterwards. Or you may just feel a gentle, deep, powerful warmth spreading throughout your entire being like an ongoing deep internal massage, or a pleasant fragrance, the breath of which brings healing.

In Hebrew tradition, these words are invoked also to relieve fever. I'm not making any claims that it will reduce fever though. I only know what I've experienced.

It isn't absolutely essential, but for the best effect I recommend repeating this series of words 3 times. Then sit in meditation just for a few minutes while the intelligent energies flow through your being. They shall continue to work through your being even after you rise from meditation and go about your day.
